

A litigation partner at Honigman LLP, Raechel has experience representing individuals and public and private companies in a variety of products and complex litigation matters before juries, judges, and arbitrators both in the United States and abroad. Hailing from a long line of public servants, Raechel inherited a strong desire to help people and give back to the community. Likewise, Raechel is passionate about social justice and ensuring that everyone has access to quality representation. While attending College in Chicago, Raechel developed a love for mentoring and educating youth in the community. For the last several years, Raechel has mentored and taught high school students via Honigman Legal Academy and is a member of the board of directors for Big Brothers Big Sisters of Southeast Michigan. When Raechel is not lawyering, she enjoys college football season fun with her husband and reenacting, on demand, every tackle seen by her 4 and 1 year old sons.
